A WQA can be for the general population or targeted to people who may be at higher risk. Water quality advisories include specific directions depending on the type of contamination. Please follow these instructions to better protect yourself:

A WATER QUALITY ADVISORY TELLS YOU THAT THERE IS SOME LEVEL OF RISK ASSOCIATED WITH CONSUMING THE DRINKING WATER

YOU CAN CONTINUE TO USE REGULAR TAP WATER FOR THE FOLLOWING:

WATER QUALITY ADVISORIES MAY BE ISSUED FOR VARIOUS REASONS INCLUDING, BUT NOT LIMITED TO:

- A potential long-term health risk such as exposure to water contaminants over long periods of time that could result in illness.
- Routine maintenance work on the water supply system.
- Turbidity (the cloudiness of water).

While on a Water Quality Advisory, increase your attention to the appearance, taste and odor of water, and notify operator of any changes or concerns. Contact your EHO and Health Director with any unusual gastrointestinal symptoms (cramps, diarrhea, vomiting) or unusual skin irritation that may be associated with drinking water
